Language: English Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Portraits and Sketches of Heads of State Departments and Members of the Legislature of Pennsylvania Daniel Hartman Hastings, Governor of Pennsylvania, was born in Lamar township, Clinton County, Pa., February 26, 1849, and was named for Rev. Daniel Hartman, a minister who for sixty years traveled the circuits of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He was the son of William and Sarah Fullerton Hastings. William Hastings was born in Burncrana, county of Derry, Ireland in a little low thatched cabin wherein his father, grandfather and great- grandfather where ushered into this world. Sarah Fullerton was a native of Ayreshire, Scotland. The parents of both emigrated to America when quite young and settled near Salona, Clinton County, Pa. William Hastings was the father of nine children, of whom Daniel was the youngest. The latter acquired his early education in the public schools. Before fifteen years old he heard of a school without a teacher and walked through the snow twenty miles to secure it, and was successful. In 1867 he became principal of Bellefonte Academy and superintendent of the public schools of the town. He occupied these positions for seven years, and, after passing creditably through a college course, for three years subsequently was editor of the Bellefonte Republican. He was admitted to practice at the bar of Centre county in 1875 and practiced his profession until 1888, when he associated himself with Governor Beaver and others in the development of the coal fields of northern Cambria county. He retired from the coal business nearly two years ago. That General Hastings was not in the war of the rebellion was not due to...
