Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Bulletin of the Massachusetts Audubon Society, Vol. 5: For the Protection of Birds, 66 Newbury Street, Boston, Mass Special reports to the State Ornithologist, and our bird-banding work under the United States Biological Survey have also served to make our Sanctuary better known and have afforded opportunity for work of real scientific value. Office Receipts And New Memberships $473.72 have been received at the Sanctuary office for books and bird supplies sold, new memberships and contributions. This is an increase of $368.83 over last year. Forty-six new members have been received here, as follows: 1 Life Member, 29 Sustaining Members, and 16 Juniors. Bird Work One hundred and twelve species of birds have been recorded here during 1920. Our total Sanctuary list now numbers 127. Daily notes on the birds and other wild life are recorded and kept on file at the Sanctuary office. Food And Feeding Food has been kept out constantly through the year about the Sanctuary headquarters, and our food stands have been well patronized. Winter feeding has been carried on over a considerable territory during the severe weather, the Superintendent and his wife tramping over two hundred miles on snowshoes in this work during the winter of 1919-1920. Food was also supplied to others who would care for birds in their vicinity. About four hundred pounds of the Packard Special Mixture and four hundred pounds of other foods were used in this work during the year. Our Nesting Birds Seventy-one species of birds were noted here during the breeding season and it is believed that all of these nested within our Sanctuary. One hundred and five nests, representing thirty-seven species, were...
