Not illustrated. 1833 Excerpt: . . . shuffling, equivocating, and colouring, as well as to all lying and pretence. This virtue of godlike sincerity or integrity would also be its own reward, even if it had no connection with the promise of the divine presence. Sterling and uniform uprightness, in word and deed, commands or wins the homage of all men; and, what is infinitely better, it secures, to a believer, joy and peace in believing. The God of truth marks his approbation of all who walk in the light of truth, by lifting upon them the light of his own countenance. He manifests himself to them, in a way that he does not to the insincere and the half-honest. The fact is, God regulates his fellowship with his professed friends, by the same general principle on which we regulate our own fellowship with our acquaintances. We avoid, as much as possible, all...
